

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please AMEND the Abstract as follows:

A ~~The present invention is a~~ computer implemented accounting system which executes accounting transactions and creates and stores posting lines based upon the executed accounting transactions. Posting lines stored in a catalog are viewed, corrections are made to the viewed posting lines, and the corrected posting lines are stored in the catalog. Respective posting lines stored in the catalog are marked, so that the catalog thereby includes stored posting lines which are marked and stored posting lines which are not marked. Posting lines stored in the catalog are selected in accordance with the markings. The selected posting lines are then posted.